

Figure 7.2 Example of synthetic data from two classes in two dimensions showing contours of constant $y(\mathbf{x})$ obtained from a support vector machine having a Gaussian kernel function. Also shown are the decision boundary, the margin boundaries, and the support vectors.

